

Happy Sunday!

I hope all of you are having a wonderful weekend. I am heading to Albany today with my daughter and husband to watch a Lacrosse game.

This week the students will meet Alphabuddy Marshall M and Nanny N. They will be making an M & M candy, a Monster, a Nest and completing a craft to go along with The Napping House Book, along with other crafts and activities that go along with these 2 letters.

One of the projects that the students will be completing this week is a picture of a Magalena Hagalena Ooka Taka Waka Taka. We have been singing the song in class(The words are at the end of this Peek). The children will draw what they think she looks like. I love this project to see how different the children interpret what they hear and visualize in their heads. I have attached the song at the end of this email. Please have the children sing it for you:)

We had a “soft “ opening of our Movie Theater on Friday. The children will be excited to have fun in it starting tomorrow. We will also be making a Popcorn craft and popcorn for our snack tomorrow. The creativity the children will use with our Movie Theater will be wonderful to watch:)

For the first time, we will be getting live Ladybugs to observe and watch grow. They should be in school beginning tomorrow. It should be an exciting experience for the children. I will keep you updated on what is going on with them:)

With the weather becoming nicer and the children playing outside at home, we ask that you please look at the shoes that your children are wearing in class. We have had many shoes that have come in covered with mud. We would appreciate the mud being cleaned off. Thank you in advance for your help with this.

Please let me know what phone number you would like your child to learn.

Thank you for sharing your amazing children! They have grown so much this year. We have loved seeing them blossom:) Have a wonderful rest of your Sunday!

Take care,

Kirstin
